Lakeshore man, juvenile to face charges of illegal oystering

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Lakeshore man and a juvenile have been arrested for illegal oystering at Bayou Cadet.

According to Ed Little of Bureau of Marine Resources, Dwayne Neil, 22, and a 16-year-old minor were arrested at 5:45 a.m. Saturday by Bureau officer Donald Armes.

The arrest occurred at the east end of Pleasure Street in Lakeshore after an enforcement officer allegedly witnessed the illegal oystering.

Armes was assisted by Andrew Elchios, also of Bureau of Marine Resources.

Armes stated that the two were charged with oystering at night, which carries a maximum fine of $10,000; oystering in a closed area, which carries a fine of $100 to $500 depending on the number of previous offenses; and oystering without a license.

Bayou Cadet was among several oystering areas that were never opened this year, Armes added.

About 10 sacks of oysters were confiscated. Estimated value was $20 per sack.

Neil and the juvenile were taken to the Hancock County Jail, where Sheriff Ronald Peterson said bond was set at $5,000 and the juvenile will be turned over to youth court authorities.

The boat used in the incident will be returned to its owner, who was not involved, Armes said. The oysters have been returned to Bayou Cadet.

Clinic obtains funds for Waveland location

BY DENA BISNETTE

Coastal Family Health Center, which operates five clinics in coastal counties, has received approval for federal funding to build a clinic in Waveland.

Kathryn M. Shanks, executive director of Coastal Family Health Center, and Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. met Friday morning to discuss possible sites for the facility.

Two sites have been proposed, one on US-90 near the new Waveland Police Station and one off Auderer Boulevard across from Our Shopping Center.

John Auderer, who owns both potential sites, said the Auderer Boulevard site would probably be the better of the two because the ground will require less fill.

Shanks said she hopes to have the clinic building ready by July 1, although Longo said Aug. 1 is more feasible because time is needed for bidding.

According to Shanks, $90,000 has been allocated for construction by the Department of Health and Human Services, formerly the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

If the total cost is more than the $90,000, Coastal Family Health Center will consider a lease-purchase agreement with the city for the additional amount.

Longo said the city plans to work with Coastal Family Health Clinics in every way possible to locate a facility in Waveland. Shanks said she has been discussing the matter with Longo on various occasions for more than a year.

KATHRYN M. SHANKS

The clinic will provide a family practice physician, an internist, and obstetrics and gynecology specialist, several nurses and related personnel.

Shanks said such clinics are non-profit and operate on a sliding fee scale basis, comparable at the upper limit to local hospitals but decreasing according to the patient's income and family size.

The five existing clinics are in Delisle, Gulfport, Biloxi, Vancleave and Saucier, all places chosen because a high percentage of the population is low-income, the director added.

"Basically we take patients who can't pay or would be unable to afford follow-up care," she explained. She said all physicians at the clinics have privileges with local hospitals, with federal funds making up the difference in costs.

Also attending at the meeting were Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn and Investigator Robert Tartavouille, asked by to advise on the matter of the building itself because it is similar in construction to the Waveland Police Station built last year; City Superintendent Herman Yarborough and Attorney Lucien Gex. Shanks and Longo visited the Auderer Boulevard site with Auderer after the meeting to discuss its suitability for the clinic.

Bay mayor urges citizens to heed city's leash laws

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Bay St. Louis residents are being asked to follow the city's leash laws and keep dogs restrained.

"The leash law requires any person allowing a dog on the street or public property to have the animal restrained on a leash," Bay Mayor Victor J. Frankiewicz said Friday.

There has been an increasing number of calls to city hall recently about dogs that are not restrained, he said.

"I want to encourage the public to heed the leash law so persons who enjoy walking and bicycling are not chased by unrestrained dogs," Frankiewicz said.

Bay Councilman Lisa Coward, who also serves on the Hancock Animal Commission, said there had been several complaints from Ward 1 residents about dogs running loose.

"If people are going to have animals they should be responsible enough to take care of them," she said.

"It is not fair to the others who want to go out and enjoy the warmer weather but have to worry about being chased by dogs who run loose," she added.

And with the summer months approaching many more people will be going out and spending more time outside, she continued.

Question on sewer district's effects on cities opened by subdivision's request

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District has a new problem to solve regarding whether a planned county sewerage district will prevent potential customers near city limits from hooking into city systems.

The problem was brought to the district board's attention Wednesday when Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr. requested district approval for connection of four subdivisions with the city's collection system.

The first three subdivisions are all partially within the city limits. They are actually already being served by the city and the approval was a formality, Frankiewicz told the board.

Consultant Ray Eaton said resurveying those three areas, located along Joe's Bayou Road and Eighth Street and at the intersection of Joe's Bayou and Blue Meadow Roads, is expected to result in no extra cost to the county.

The fourth subdivision, Blue Meadow Road Subdivision, has not actually been developed at this time but will consist mostly of small lots designed as sites for residential trailers, the mayor said.

The site has been included in Eaton's outline of the proposed county sewerage district.

Frankiewicz, however, objected because he feels failure to provide sewerage would delay development and because he does not want the city to have to pay maintenance on pipeline and equipment that will later be part of another district.

Board Chairman John Longo Jr., who serves as Waveland's representative, explained that the county is expected to have fewer people using the sewerage system to be constructed than either Waveland or Bay St. Louis has now.

He said the county is expected to have the most difficulty providing revenue to pay for its proposed collection system and that loss of customers who hook into city systems could hurt financially.

"That would overburden the county," Longo said.

County Representative A.A. Kellar, president of the board of supervisors, explained that the district has not been formed yet because Eaton's work is not complete.

However, with the exception of the subdivisions approved because most of the homes they include are within the city limits, all other territory not presently within the two city's service areas was expected to be included.

He said the matter is expected to come up at the March 13 board of supervisors meeting.

If the district is approved at that meeting, advertisement for funding for the county system could be placed within 90 days.

Longo and Board Attorney Lucien Gex proposed a compromise, with the city paying for the sewerage in the proposed subdivision until the county system is in place, then allowing the subdivision to be added to the county.

Eaton said a second possibility is that the city could levy a transportation charge on sewerage from the county that must pass through city pipelines to get to the treatment plant in Waveland.

A motion by Frankiewicz to include the subdivision in the city's sewerage collection district died for ILLEGAL CATCH—A 27-inch, seven-pound, eight ounce speckled trout is an example of fish found in about 1,200 feet of illegal gill net Bureau of Marine Resources enforcement officers recently found in Wolf River. Chief Bureau Inspector Jerry Gollott said confiscation and other efforts to fight illegal gill netting will continue.

Illegal gill nets confiscated

The Commission for Wildlife Conservation has released information that Joe Popeck and Ricky Dubuison, enforcement officers for Bureau of Marine Resources, confiscated over 4,000 feet of illegal gill nets Monday found set on the south side of Wolf River near Biloxi.

According to Chief Inspector Jerry Gollott of the Bureau, Popeck and Dubuison followed information the Bureau had received and found the nets extended on the south side of the river.

The nets and fish in the nets were confiscated. The fish were catalogued and weighed and the catch was found to include over 70 pounds of Spotted Sea Trout, Red Drum, Popeyed Mullet and some flounder and catfish.

Gollott noted that in the last 12 days officers of his department have confiscated more than 51,000 feet of illegal gill nets valued at about $200,000.

Swift action by Bureau personnel in locating these gill nets will continue, Gollott added.

Gollott added.

He pointed out that his men's actions to protect sport fish in restricted areas will also continue.

Department of Wildlife Conservation Director Joe Stone, when advised of the action of the two officers, stated, "I commend these officers and all the officers of Bureau of Marine Resources for the excellent job they are doing."

"This is just one more example of positive action through team work."

Constable training requirements announced

A notice of intent to adopt training requirements for constables was approved Feb. 11 by the Board on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Training.

In the meantime, Attorney General Ed Pittman said the Justice Department has approved changes in the state law which will effect the election of county constables.

The new law requires that constables be elected from justice court judge districts rather than from supervisor districts. Previously each supervisor beat had one constable; by the provisions of the new law, each justice court judge district will have one constable.

The training required for constables has been established by the Board of Law Enforcement Standards and Training. Starting in 1988, constables will be required to have the same training as law enforcement officers, including a basic course or equivalent experience in law enforcement.

Pittman said a bill which has passed the Senate and is currently being considered by the House of Representatives may shorten the training requirements for constables.

The board, charged by a law passed during the 1986 legislative session to establish constable training requirements, determined that incumbent constables may be required to complete a two-week refresher course at the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy or another approved training academy within one year of the constable's election. Also, newly elected constables may be required to attend the basic law enforcement training course at an approved academy. Individual failing to meet this requirement would not be eligible to collect constable's fees.

"Each constable's documented record of experience, training and education would be evaluated to determine the individual's capabilities and training needs," said Oxford Police Chief Billy White, chairman of the board. "Constables who have successfully completed a basic course equivalent to the board-approved course of have experience and training deemed equivalent to current standards would be eligible for a waiver of the training requirement."

The board also determined that newly elected constables who have completed an acceptable basic course and can provide documentation of adequate law enforcement experience would be eligible for a refresher course.

Constables who have served four-year terms from January 1984 through December 1987 also would be considered eligible to attend the refresher course.

"All constables participating in the training would be required to achieve an overall academic average of at least 70 percent and a final average qualifying score of at least 75 percent on the prescribed firearms courses," White said.

Under the board's plan, the concerned board of supervisors would submit a completed personnel action form for each constable within 30 days of the individual taking the oath of office. Following the next regularly scheduled Board on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Training meeting, the board of supervisors would be advised on the training required, if any, for the constable.

The law mandates that the board of supervisors shall be responsible for paying, one time only, the tuition, living and travel expenses incurred by the constable. If the constable does not satisfactorily complete the training, the expenses of any further required training would be the obligation of the constable.

After 30 days, the board will again meet for final adoption of constable training requirements.

ETV Brief

NO PASS-NO PLAY
 No pass/no play rules that are being adopted by Mississippi schools are the topic of a half-hour program in ETV's "Education: The Way Up" series. The program will air at 2:30 p.m., Friday, March 6, and again at 3:30 p.m., Sunday, March 8.

"Education: The Way Up" looks at innovative programs in Mississippi schools. The series airs Friday and Sunday afternoons at 2:30 and 3:30, respectively.

A mini-documentary about the "no pass/no play" rule at R.H. Watkins High School in Laurel shows how the rule was instituted and its success.

New anti-drug campaign targets youths' self-esteem

A new public service advertising campaign which appeals to youths' self-esteem and personal identity as reasons to avoid or stop using drugs has been launched by the National School Safety Center.

The positive focus on the integrity of one's identity, as opposed to relying on scare tactics to keep kids away from drugs, reflects the latest findings of drug abuse prevention studies.

"The need to belong, to be accepted, often seems to be the determining factor in how we behave, especially for youth," says NSSC Executive Director Ronald D. Stephens. "Talking drugs at school and elsewhere is part of this 'belonging' myth that we hope the PSAs will dispel," says Stephens.

A current UCLA survey of California junior and senior high school students validates the Center's positive approach. It reports fear is not an effective deterrent to teen drug use and, in fact, kids who turn down drugs most often base their choice on self-image, not drug abuse programs or education.

The survey's authors concluded, "Teens don't use drugs if it conflicts with a personal sense of identity. To be effective, programs have to delve into the area of values and identity." Titled "Facades," the PSA campaign combines dramatic visual imagery with short, introspective messages from youthful drug abusers.

In "Mask," a 20-second spot, viewers are surprised as the camera pans around the face of a seemingly normal teenager only to show half of her face painted with mime-like makeup. "I first started using drugs because of my friends at school," says the girl in a voice-over narration. "It wasn't what I wanted...It wasn't me...I don't know who it was."

The other two PSAs, "Paper Dolls" and "Puppet," use creative visual metaphors to communicate their messages.

The drug-free schools campaign was developed for NSSC by Bonneville Media Communications in Salt Lake City and released for airing earlier this month.

The advertising campaign is a primary component of NSSC's comprehensive effort to make schools safer and free of drug traffic and abuse.

Other Center activities include providing technical assistance, publishing practitioner and public information literature, legal and legislative advocacy, and serving as a national clearinghouse on school safety issues.

The National School Safety Center is funded by the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention of the U.S. Department of Justice in partnership with the U.S. Department of Education and Pepperdine University. It is headquartered at 16830 Ventura Blvd., Suite 200, Encino, California 91436.

Preliminary autopsy shows no foul play

BY DENA BISNETTE

Although authorities are still attempting to verify the identity of a man who died in a car fire on Interstate 10 Tuesday morning, a preliminary autopsy report has indicated no foul play involved in the death.

According to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, an autopsy performed Wednesday morning in New Orleans, La., showed no evidence of foul play in the fatality, which is presently believed to have resulted from the fire.

The sheriff said a passport and other identification found in a suitcase in the trunk of the car, a 1980 BMW, indicates that the man may have been a Nigerian living in Mobile, Alabama.

Peterson said investigators are attempting to obtain dental records to match to the teeth of the body in order to obtain a positive identification.

County Fire Marshall Jay Marsh is still investigating the cause of the fire, which was discovered about a mile west of the Kiln exit by a passing motorist at about 8:30 a.m. Tuesday and was extinguished by Diamondhead Fire Department.

Marsh had said at the scene that the main concentration of the fire's heat had been in the front of vehicle's interior.

The body, burned beyond recognition, was found in the back seat.

The fire was not related to a collision or other apparent automobile accident, Peterson said.

Hancock County Sheriff's Investigator Glen Strong is in charge of the investigation.

'Volksmarch' planned at NSTL

The Magnolia State Volkssport Club's third Volksmarch is slated Saturday and Sunday at the National Space Technology Laboratories.

Upon arrival at the NSTL gate, identify yourself as a volkmarcher and ask for an event map with further directions. Co-sponsors for this event are the Ocean Shores Running Club and NSTL Recreation Association.

A volkmarch is a non-competitive sporting event over a pre-planned 6.2 mile trail. Literally translated from German, Volksmarch means "march of the people" and is one of several volksport events designed for fun and fitness.

All ages are encouraged to participate at their own pace; walk, run or jog. It is not unusual to see grandparents walking with their grandchildren, parents toting babies in backcarriers or even pushing strollers, in this sport where everyone is a winner.

Register at Cypress House anytime between 7 a.m. and 1 p.m., either day. Start at your convenience, however, all participants must finish by 4 p.m.

The walk is free for those not interested in the optional commemorative medal. Available for $5, the 2.5 inch pewee style medal is the third in the Mississippi State Series. It features the Mockingbird, wings stretched in flight within the state border, and is awarded after completion of the event.

Even after walking 10 km, you should still have enough energy left to enjoy the facilities offered at NSTL. The Visitors Center is free and open daily, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A free tour of the installation is offered which includes the Space Shuttle Test Complex and the work of agencies resident at NSTL. Visitors can view indoor and outdoor exhibits and displays in addition to live demonstrations, movies, and scan the horizon from the 90-foot "Space Tower."

For more information about the volkmarch, contact Patty Proulx at (601) 574-5265.

Food distribution scheduled

The Hancock County Department of Public Welfare will distribute USDA commodities of flour, rice, honey, butter and cheese on Wednesday, March 18 at the Waveland American Legion on Coleman Avenue from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The food will be distributed until supply runs out or until 2 p.m. whichever comes first.

All food stamp recipients are eligible. Any low income household may apply at the Food Stamp Office on March 16 and March 17. You must have a signed voucher to pick up the commodities.

"If you cannot come, you can give your voucher to another person to pick it up. Be sure to sign the front of the voucher and sign the back of the voucher. You also have to tell us who is picking up your commodities. If this is not done, we cannot give your commodities to that person," according to Darlene Peterson, program coordinator.

Retired Lt. Gen. Emmett H. "Mickey" Walker of Jackson will be the keynote speaker for the 1987 reunion.

Walker, recently retired after serving two tours as chief of National Guard Bureau in Washington, D.C.

He served in a number of staff and command positions in the Dixie Division in the 1960s and 80s.

The speaker at last year's second annual reunion was another prominent Mississippian, U.S. Rep. G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery.

Retired Col. John F. Hooper was named executive secretary for the society in 1986 and has been working since that time to locate former members of the division.

"We now have more than 1,300 confirmed names and addresses," Hooper said. "But there are many more we need to contact, especially in Mississippi."

Hooper said all former general officers of the Mississippi National Guard who had served in the division had been contacted.

"We are now looking for other former members from Mississippi to make the society truly representative of the division," Hooper explained.

He said the present officers and board of directors would like to alternate the annual reunion between towns in Mississippi and Alabama in the future.

Anyone who served in units of the 31st Infantry 'Dixie' is urged to contact Hooper for information on the society and the reunion.

"I will mail them a newsletter with information on the society and our third annual reunion in Birmingham," Hooper said.

He may be reached by phone at (208) 271-7487 during normal business hours or by writing the 31st Infantry Dixie Division Society, Attn: Col. Hooper, P.O. Box 3711, Montgomery, AL 36184-4701.

Diabetes Awareness Day set for March 10

The first annual Diabetes Awareness Day is set for Tuesday, March 10, according to the American Diabetes Association, Gulf Coast Affiliate. Special activities and events around the country will take place to tell the public about diabetes.

"We are pleased to have this day set aside to let the people in the Gulf Coast area know about the seriousness of this disease, what we are doing to find a preventive and cure, and what services are available to people who have diabetes," said Marilyn Ellis, president of the Gulf Coast affiliate.

"Nearly five million Americans have diabetes and don't even know it," warned Ellis, "so learning the symptoms of this life-threatening disease is extremely important."

Among the warning signs to look for:

Insulin-dependent diabetes—constant urination; abnormal thirst; unusual hunger; the rapid loss of weight; irritability; obvious weakness and fatigue; nausea and vomiting.

Non-insulin-dependent diabetes—drowsiness; itching; a family history of diabetes; blurred vision; excessive weight; tingling numbness in feet; easy fatigue; skin infections and slow healing.

If left untreated, diabetes can lead to serious complications, including heart disease and stroke, kidney disease, and blindness. However, knowing you have diabetes is only the first step. Find out about the latest techniques that can help you maintain good diabetes control. Good control is a factor in assuring good health and preventing complication.

Diabetes is a disease in which the body does not properly convert sugars, starches, and other food into the energy needed for life. It affects 11 million Americans and with its complications, is this nation's third leading cause of death by disease.

The American Diabetes Association is the nation's leading voluntary health organization supporting diabetes research and education. It services the entire diabetes community through the efforts of thousands of volunteers from more than 800 affiliates and chapters in communities across the United States.

Department of Labor seeking to decentralize nation's employment security system

The Mississippi Employment Security Commission has been advised that the Department of Labor has presented legislation to Congress to refocus the role of the Employment Service system and to decentralize the Unemployment Insurance system.

The goal of this proposed legislation is to turn the funding of both systems entirely over to the individual states by 1990.

What this means to the people of Mississippi is the elimination of consistent services both at the state and national levels.

The system, as it functions today, is governed by national policy that is administered in a uniform manner throughout the country.

This new legislation, as proposed, would shift that governing power from the national level to the individual states resulting in the potential for 50 different variations in policy and services offered.

This proposal further plans to enhance the role of the Private Industry Councils to review, monitor and evaluate the Employment Service systems in their respective Service Delivery Area (SDA).

Mississippi has three SDAs which will in effect amount to three different Employment Service systems operating as three separate entities.

This division would create much confusion to both employers and applicants as to the specific nature of the services that each area will provide.

As great as the confusion would be in Mississippi with three Service Delivery Areas, the impact would be much greater in states that have as many as 20 SDAs.

In addition, the Department of Labor proposed that the states would continue to provide priority services to Veterans; however, it is difficult to imagine how this program could continue to be managed effectively under the proposed system.

This new system also ignores the needs of the employers as far as a public placement service, even though employers will continue to be taxed to pay for this system.

In conclusion, this new legislation will be creating a national employment service system that will have absolutely no continuity or definition of services, would eliminate the ability to respond to employers' needs across state lines, and could ultimately lead to the general demise of the nationwide employment service system.

Mississippi's Congressional delegation has come to the aid of the public employment service each time their assistance was requested, and such commitment has already been made from most on this issue.

It remains, however, most important that Mississippians contact their Senators and Congressmen and express their concerns about the Employment Service system being placed under the JTPA Private Industry Council for oversight and direction.

It is imperative that the Mississippi delegation support the renewal of the Federal-State role and that funding for the system be strengthened to carry out the role of the system in such areas as placement and employer services, Targeted Jobs Tax Credit, and more emphasis upon the employer's role in strengthening our economy and provide more job opportunities if properly served.

Montgomery says Welfare reform proposal will die without consideration

Administration plans to include certain veterans' health care and pension benefits in its welfare reform package "are not going anywhere in the Congress, in my opinion," said Rep. G.V. (Sonny) Montgomery, Chairman of the House Veterans' Affairs Committee. The plans were revealed in recent press reports.

"Veterans benefits are not welfare, and should never be

Housekeeping

A Special Report From Mississippi House of Representatives

The three big issues of highways, education and state finances remain high on the list of legislative priorities as the third month of the 1987 session gets underway.

The past week saw a spirited battle in the House of Representatives over a proposed tax increase, plus the passage of several major funding bills including a record-high $620 million for general support of Mississippi's public school system.

This is the largest single general fund appropriation in state history and represents an increase of more than $300 million over the current outlay for the Minimum Education Program.

A measure to boost the state income tax triggered two days of debate last week but failed to obtain the required 3/5ths majority required for passage.

The vote was 62-63 for the bill on the first day it was called up but 69 votes were needed for passage. It was called up again the following day and an amendment to revise the measure was adopted, but again it failed to receive the required margin for passage. The vote was 64-50 but it needed 69 votes.

Nobody enjoys raising taxes but legislators have differed sharply on the matter. Some contend additional taxes should not be levied and greater efficiency should be sought in public spending; others believe new revenues must be found to meet essential needs of the people. It has been among the toughest decisions facing lawmakers.

The income tax proposal, as recommended by the House Ways and Means Committee last week, would have generated about $104 million that backers said could be used for such purposes as higher education, mental health, or salaries for state employees.

Under the plan, there would be no cutback in personal exemptions or deductions but basic income tax rates would be increased to 4 percent on taxable income up to $4,000, 5 percent on taxable income of $4,000-$8,000, and 6 percent on all in excess of $8,000.

This compares to the present rates of 3 percent on taxable income up to $5,000, 4 percent on the next $5,000, and 5 percent on all above. A subsequent amendment would have simply raised the rate by one percent but left the taxable income brackets unchanged.

The highway construction program cleared another legislative hurdle last week when a revised version of the House-passed bill was approved by the Senate.

The legislation, calling for 1,077 miles of new four-lane highways across the state, was heading back to the House at the start of the current week.

House concurrence would be final legislative approval and the bill would be ready to go to the Governor's desk, where it could be signed, vetoed, or allowed to become law without signature.

The House approved more than 40 appropriation measures in a drive last week to meet a deadline for floor action on appropriations and revenue bills.

Besides the general appropriation for public schools, funding measures involving education included $44.8 million for public kindergartens and other provisions of the 1982 Education Reform Act, and $12.6 million for school textbooks.

The textbooks allocation was about $3 million over a Legislative Budget Committee recommendation.

The House also approved funding for various health and welfare programs, the Department of Wildlife Conservation, the Highway Department, Insurance Department, and state-supported charity hospitals at Laurel, Meridian and Vicksburg.

There was a brisk debate on a proposal to require that a plan be prepared for the orderly closure of the charity hospitals, and lawmakers wound up removing the provision from the bills.

Debate also came on a measure aimed at helping pave the way for construction of the Shoccoe dry dam north of Jackson in an effort to reduce the threat of Pearl River flooding.

The bill was defeated following several amendments and arguments over the potential impact of the project on upriver flooding.

In other developments, legislative action was completed on bills to help ensure financing for the proposed U.S. Navy home port in the Pascagoula area.

The House approved bills to provide for annual property assessment updates in the counties in an attempt to avoid costly total reappraisal every four years; bring state income tax provisions in line with new federal laws; and update local privilege tax laws.

All House members were deeply saddened last week by the loss of a valued friend and respected colleague, Representative Guy Williams of Drew, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Williams, 59, died at a Memphis hospital where he had been awaiting a liver transplant. He had been a member of the House since 1976.

High school student assistance lauded by children's center

The Editor

Dear Sir:

For the past several years Brother Canisius from St. Stanislaus has been bringing groups of young men to work as volunteers with the children here at the Methodist Children's Center. These young people cheerfully donate their time once a week to little children who are ordinarily with women most of their waking hours. However, they are given the chance to see some excellent male role models in these young men from St. Stanislaus.

I would like to express my appreciation to Brother Paul for allowing the students to work with us, to Brother Canisius for volunteering his time to supervise the work of the volunteers, and to the young men for sharing their time with us.

Gov. Bill Allain

GOVERNORS' ASSOCIATION BACKS JOB-ORIENTED WELFARE REFORM

The National Governors' Association, holding our annual meeting in Washington, D.C., recently approved a proposal to reform welfare programs to make them more job-oriented.

I served on the Welfare Reform Task Force for the NGA and was very pleased that this proposal has now been approved by the entire association.

The plan requires welfare recipients to attend educational job training or placement programs and to take jobs when offered. It would exempt welfare recipients with children under the age of three.

The proposal includes providing assistance for child care and Medicaid until the welfare recipient is no longer dependent on these programs to survive.

My office will be surveying statewide to identify the job skills of Mississippi's welfare recipients, so we can help find the appropriate jobs for these individuals.

The welfare reform program can be successful and greatly help a state like Mississippi, which is very dependent on transfer payments. If we have more people working and taking care of their families, we will have more funds available for government services.

Most people would rather have a job than depend on government to support them. This program will go a long way in making thousands of welfare recipients self-sufficient and contributing citizens. In addition, the education component of the program will improve our state's literacy and educational level.

Likewise, it can also go a long way in breaking the cycle of poverty by impacting children of welfare recipients. If the parents are better educated, they can help their children with school and they can instill in these children the importance of an education.

In many sessions of the National Governors' Association, we have heard from individuals who have made the giant step from welfare recipient to employee.

Most accomplished this by educational training and job placement, just as recommended in the welfare reform proposal. If we can accomplish the goals of this program, many Mississippians will benefit and a future generation of Mississippians will grow up to lead a better life.

VA committee rejects administration budget, recommends "realistic, fair" spending levels

The House Committee on Veterans' Affairs has formally rejected the President's proposed Veterans Administration budget for fiscal year 1988. The panel today submitted to the Budget Committee a revised spending plan that denies an increase in the veterans' home loan fee, recommends health care funding similar to current-year levels, and provides additional money for the care and treatment of veterans with AIDS.

"What the Committee has proposed is realistic and fair. We have not included any major expansion or new programs (in the VA budget)," said Committee Chairman G.V. (Sonny) Montgomery (D-MS). "Unlike the President's budget, we have recognized that the veteran population is getting older and that, as they get older, they will seek care more often, and they will require longer lengths of stay."

Rep. Gerald B.H. Solomon (R-NY), the Committee's Ranking Minority Member, said that a lean VA budget is "expected and necessary in these times of necessary frugality, but if it is too lean, it should be fine-tuned, and that is what our recommendations are designed to accomplish."

The Veterans' Affairs Committee recommended a $26.6 billion VA budget (outlays), $586 million higher than the Administration proposal. Two items account for $687 million of the difference.

The Committee rejected the Administration's proposal to increase from one percent to 2.5 percent the fee a veteran homebuyer pays to receive a VA-guaranteed loan. The Congressional Budget Office had projected a $411 million increase in revenue with the fee hike. The Administration has now failed three times in as many years to raise the fee.

The Committee boosted the Administration's proposed veterans' health care budget by $246 million to allow the VA to maintain current services and then tacked on what Solomon calls "some very limited, modest enhancements."

The Committee recommended an additional $30 million for the care and treatment of veterans with acquired immune deficiency syndrome. According to Montgomery, the VA is treating approximately one thousand AIDS patients a year, at an average cost per patient of $40 thousand annually.

The Committee added $15 million and 190 full-time employees to the VA's domiciliary program for the care of homeless veterans and $32.4 million for medical facility construction projects; ignored a proposed reduction in the $150 burial plot allowance now available for families of eligible non-service-connected veterans; recommended an additional $150 million for the Veterans' Job Training Program over the next two and one-half years; and rejected the Administration's proposal to shift the total cost of the New GI Bill to the Department of Defense. The Committee also rejected any possibility of reducing the basic benefit payable to veterans enrolled in the New GI Bill.

The Committee has also approved and sent to the House a resolution expressing opposition to an Administration proposal to eliminate health care funding for so-called "category C" veterans — non-service-connected veterans whose incomes exceed $20 thousand (single) or $25 thousand (married).

According to Montgomery, the proposal would result in the reduction of VA health care personnel and medical supplies and would, ultimately, adversely affect health care services for all veterans, service-connected and non-service-connected alike.

Pick-up hits bridge, three men injured

BY DENA BISNETTE

Three residents of northern Hancock County have been injured in a one-vehicle accident on Caesar-Necaise Road when the pick-up truck in which they were riding hit part of a bridge.

According to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, the pick-up truck involved in the 5:45 p.m. accident was driven by Paul H. Ladner, 24, of Rt. 1, Box 564, Pass Christian. Passengers included Mark Johnston of Rt. 2, Box 262, Perkinston, and Chris Hoda, Rt. 2, Box 192, Perkinston.

Peterson said investigators found that the driver attempted to retrieve an object that had fallen from truck's dashboard and had lost control of the vehicle, which hit the abutment and guard rail of Hickory Creek Bridge.

The truck went over the edge of the bridge and came to rest upside down on the creek bank, the sheriff added.

The injured were transported to Crosby Memorial Hospital at Picaune by AAA Ambulance Service.

USM grant may improve oyster beds

A $34,465 grant to the University of Southern Mississippi may improve protection of oyster beds and recreational beaches from enteric (human abdominal) viruses.

Dr. R.D. Ellender, professor of microbiology in the USM Department of Biological Sciences, is director of the project sponsored by the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium.

The consortium is the only one of its kind and is based at the Gulf Coast Research Lab in Ocean Springs.

Ellender said he will study how human viruses attach to particles and move through water systems to eventually invade beaches and oyster beds.

Kiln man arrested on fondling charge

According to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay, John Jason Billiot, Box 198, Kiln, was still being held in the Hancock County Jail Friday afternoon. Bond was set at $5,000, the investigator said.

The investigation is continuing with assistance from the Hancock County Welfare Department.

Hancock Humane Society slates installation of new officers Leash.....

Not only is it a problem to people but it is also dangerous to the dogs who are exposed to the traffic.

Another problem caused by dogs not being kept inside a yard or on a leash is the scattering of garbage by such animals.

"It is discouraging to people trying to keep their yards neat to have to pick up the trash strewn by dogs owned by people who do not have enough initiative to keep their animals on a leash," she said.

At its regular monthly meeting on Monday, March 16 at the Waveland Library at 7 p.m. the new officers and board of directors will be installed for the forthcoming year.

New officers to be installed are President Barbara Jo Fitch, Vice-President Webb deWitt, Treasurer Richard Fitch, Recording Secretary Dorothy Powell, Correspondence Secretary Edna Isom.

The new board of directors will include the above officers and Sandra Abson, Cel Dumestre, Valerie Fisher, Ardley Hanemann, Joyce Ohman and Ex officio Dr. William Bradford.

Members of the Humane Society are encouraged to attend this meeting and welcome aboard the new officers and directors, said Fisher, society spokesperson.

Catfish industry still strong but tighter 1987 profits expected

Catfish, Mississippi's fifth largest agricultural income producer, reached a record production value of $210 million in 1986. But experts are cautious that 1987 will be a slower year for producers.

Key factors point to a slowdown in new catfish pond acreage in 1987, said Frank Meigs, vice president of Farm Credit Banks in Jackson.

Meigs said while catfish pond acreage in Mississippi will expand again in 1987, a large supply of catfish from years of expansion and lower prices could slow the trend.

The average farm price for catfish in 1986 was 68 cents a pound, compared to 73 cents in 1985.

"We could see farm catfish prices down to the mid-50s (cents a pound) this year," said Meigs. "Catfish prices are usually higher in spring and lower in the fall, but I don't think we will see considerably higher prices this spring."

Farm-raised catfish acreage in the state reached a record 88,000 acres in 1986, according to Dr. Tom Wellborn, head of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Wildlife and Fisheries Department.

"The 1986 figure was up 13,000 acres from 1985," Wellborn said. "In comparison, producers are expected to add only 3,800 acres of new ponds in 1987."

Meigs said given the catfish price environment, how well producers fare in 1987 will depend in part on how well they boost productivity.

In related agriculture news, county extension agents reported producers are taking advantage of the spring-like weather to take soil samples and begin preparing fields.

In north Mississippi, Benton County agent Melvin Oatis said fields are drying and farmers are collecting soil samples.

Monroe County agent Roy Doss said some vegetable producers are preparing land.

In south Mississippi, Madison County agent Frank Carter said fields in that county are still too wet to support farm equipment.

Neshoba County agent Ivory Lyles said the warm weather prompted many homeowners to work in their yards and gardens.

In Harrison County, extension area horticulture specialist John E. Davis said producers are fertilizing wheat, ryegrass and other pastures as the weather permits.

Consumer update on fraud

By Janet K. Lukens
Coast Consumer Management Center
"When a person with experience meets a person with money, the person with experience will get the money. And the person with the money will get the experience."
This statement, made by Leonard Lauder, president of Estee Lauder, may be more accurate than we'd like to admit. It's estimated that more than $40 billion a year is lost to investment swindlers after your money with new and sophisticated schemes. Sometimes dishonest advertising is so cleverly worded that it can fool even the best shopper. Unfortunately, older people, students, sick people, and the lonely are among the most vulnerable. The problem is compounded because some victims keep quiet about their loss out of embarrassment. Others don't realize they've been ripped off until long after the money and the swindlers are gone.

To avoid being taken by fraud, watch for the following gimmicks:
1. If you have seen or heard an advertisement for a certain object and then you are told by a salesperson the object isn't any good, watch out! If he offers to show you something better, don't buy anything.

2. Don't be rushed by a fast talking salesperson telling you the price is going up immediately or "this is the last once we have for this price."
3. In many cases, consolidating loans and bills means more debt. You may have brokers' fees, appraisals, additional interest, and other charges with a new loan. Some of your present lenders may charge a prepayment penalty for early repayment. They also may not reduce interest charges just because you pay off early.
The only way to reduce monthly payments with a new loan is by lowering the interest rate or increasing the repayment period. Increasing the repayment period will mean more interest charges and may cost more in the long run. Consolidate loans only after careful consideration.
4. Do not keep things on approval from people you do not know. You might not be able to find them to return the item, then you would receive a bill for something you do not want.
5. Know what you are signing. Never sign a contract without reading carefully to make sure all conditions of the deal including cost of credit are written in exactly as they were promised to you.
6. A guarantee or warranty has to be in writing. A voiced promise by a person has to be backed in writing to be legally binding.
If you are the victim of a fraud, find out as much information as possible about the company. If the dealer or company refuses to correct the fraud, make your complaints to your local chamber of commerce, Better Business Bureau or the state's Consumer Protection Agency with the Attorney General's office.

Gas severance taxes way down in 1986

Mississippi oil and gas severance tax collections totaled $4.77 million in December, 1986, a decrease of 24.3 percent, compared to the same month of 1985.

Oil severance tax collections totaled $2.21 million during December, 1986, compared to $4.05 million during the same period in 1985. Natural gas severance tax collections during December, 1986 were $2.56 million, compared to $2.25 million in December, 1985.

The oil tax was collected and production of 3,363,297 barrels during December, 1986, compared to production of 2,600,472 barrels during the same month last year. The gas tax collected on the production of 22,119,730 mcf (thousand cubic feet), compared to 13,212,650 mcf a year earlier.

The severance tax is levied at a rate of six percent of the wellhead value of natural gas and crude oil. Severance tax revenues generated by the state's oil and gas production go to the state's General Fund for funding of various state programs. A portion also goes to the producing counties for their use in county education and other programs.

In the past 12 months, severance tax collections have totaled $49.35 million, compared to $30.49 million during the previous 12 months. Of the amount collected during the past 12 months, $24.13 million was from oil severance taxes, while $25.22 million was from natural gas severance taxes.

Hancock County school board names spring sports coaches

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Hancock County School Board Thursday approved a list of coaches for spring sports.

The coaches include Charles Duffie, tennis; Larry Johnson, junior and senior high girls track; Dennis Peterson, baseball; Robert Hamero, junior and senior high boys track; and Debbie Tripplet, softball.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph reported at the meeting there would be no eighth grade graduation exercises this year.

Randolph told the board, the state commission on school accreditation had informed the school district any graduation except from secondary school was prohibited.

However Randolph did say students completing the eighth grade would be honored at an awards program.

Also at the meeting the board voted to have an appraisal conducted on a district-owned house across the street from Gulfview Elementary School.

In a letter to the board Gulfview Principal William Haddock said the house is leaking and deteriorating at such a fast pace it will lose all value soon.

He also said the area was needed for additional parking.

Following the receipt of the appraisal, the board plans to declare the house as surplus property and advertise for bids.

During the meeting, the board opened bids on a section of fence at Gulfview School and a drainage contract at Hancock North Central.

The four fence bids were taken under advisement. A bid from Ladner Construction of Pass Christian in the amount of $1,200 for the drainage work was accepted.

In other business the board:

—Approved the purchase of two legal size fireproof filing cabinets from Clay's Office Supply for $639 each. Randolph said these cabinets were necessary for the security of personal files on special education students.

—Approved a recommendation to employ Lydia E. Stafford as substitute janitor at Hancock North Central Schools for the remainder of the school year.

—Approved the resignation of Glynda Chaisson as teacher assistant at Gulfview Elementary effective Jan. 26.

—Approved a recommendation to employ Mrs. Genette Butsch as kindergarten assistant at Gulfview for the remainder of the school year.

—Approved a recommendation to employ Geraldine Smith and Rhonda Gail Ladner as substitute teachers at Hancock North Central Schools for the remainder of the school year.

—Approved a request to purchase a new computer software accounting system for $1,050 from Data Processing Consultants, Randolph told the board to meet guidelines from the state auditor the system was necessary.

—Approved a recommendation to employ Ruth Davis and Rebecca L. Walker as substitute school nurses for the remainder of the school year.

—Approved a request to pay employer portion and interest payment to the Mississippi Public Employees' Retirement System for Leola E. Stoufflet.

—Approved a payment request from the Accident Contingency Fund for a student in the amount of $5,932.55 for medical attention resulting from a fall from a school bus.

—Approved a payment request from the Accident Contingency Fund for the repair of the automobile of Thomas Breaux in the amount of $574.19 as a result of a bus accident.

—Approved a request to classify 1.39 acres in Section 16-5-14 from farm residential-forestry to other lands.

The school board scheduled its next meeting for Tuesday, 6:30 p.m. to discuss the building program. The meeting will be at Stennis office.

Phone 1-(800) 433-TIPS

Each week the Mississippi Coast Crimestoppers, Inc., publishes the Crime of the Week. If you know any information about this crime, or events surrounding this crime, call the TIPS line at 1-(800) 433-TIPS. You do not have to give your name; and you might receive a reward of up to $1,000 if the suspect is apprehended and arraigned as a result of your tip.

Remember that number; 1-(800) 433-TIPS will help you and your friends by solving a crime that has the local police baffled.

THE CRIME OF THE WEEK
The place: Any business establishment on the Coast.

The time: Any hour that any business is open.

The crime: Shoplifting. Shoplifting is a crime that costs each of us money out of our pockets. We may never, secretly spirit a merchant's goods out of the store without paying. We may never slide an item of merchandise in our pockets, or pocket books with the intent of stealing it. But we pay for those who do.

Such actions eat into the profit, which is a necessity for the merchant to stay in business. The only way the business manager can stay in business is to make a profit big enough to pay his/her bills and still have something left over to live on. If it is a large corporation, the stockholders must receive some return on their investment, or they will pull out of the business; and it will fail.

To prevent such losses, the business manager must raise prices on all other items to customers. You are a customer, and you must pay a portion of that price because other persons steal from the business.

Only you can help prevent this needless expense.

What can you do?

(1) If you see anyone shoplifting, tell a store employee or security guard immediately.

(2) If you know of someone who is in the shoplifting business, call the Crimestoppers line.

(3) If you know of someone who handles shoplifted items, call the Crimestoppers line.

Remember, only you can share this kind of information with proper authorities; and if you don't, you will pay more on your next purchase than you should.

Most crimes involving shoplifting are never solved. But with your help, more will be solved!

GCRL to continue marine shrimp farming project

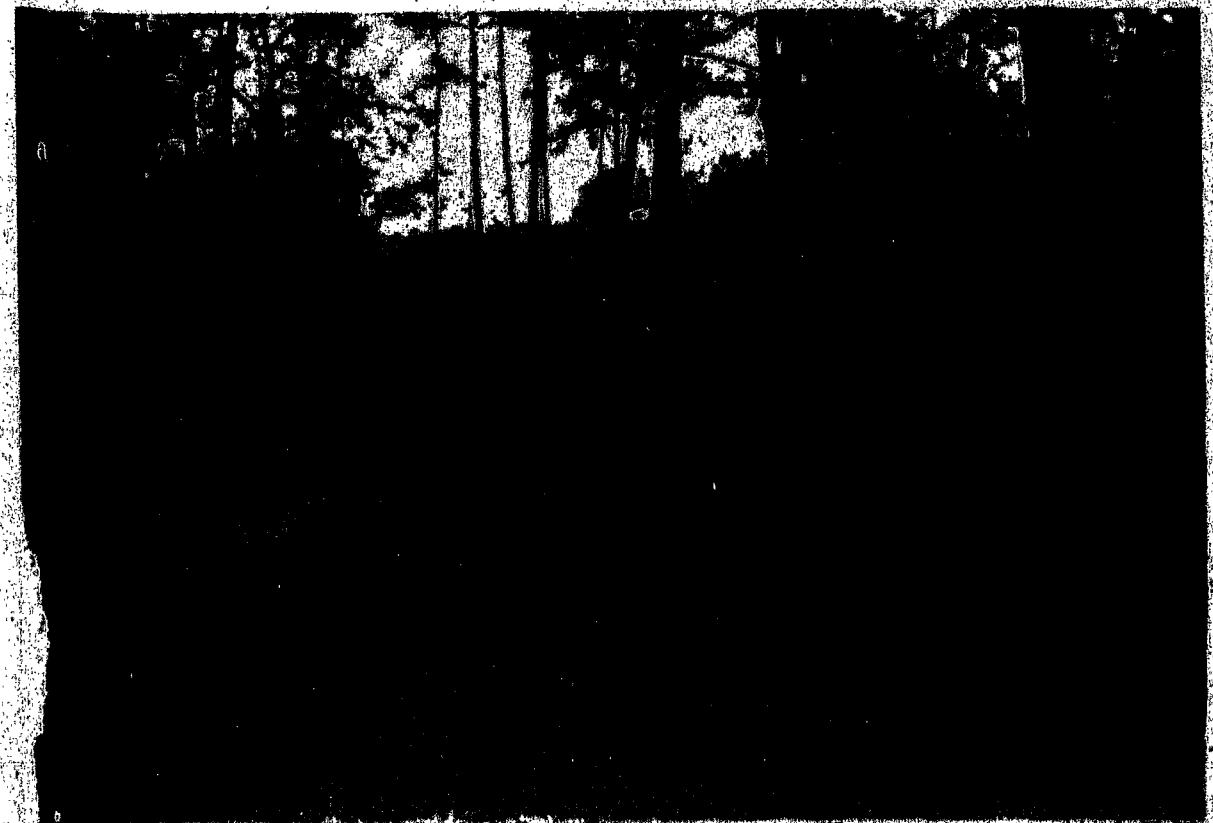

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has awarded the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory $507,891 in continuing support of the research project entitled "Marine Shrimp Farming."

Doctors Robin M. Overstreet and Jeffrey M. Lotz are co-principal investigators on this project which will be carried out in collaboration with Oceanic Institute, Waimanalo, Hawaii and Tufts University, Boston, Massachusetts.

The primary objective of the total project is to provide information necessary for producing commercial shrimp in a cost-effective manner.

GCRL research this year will concentrate on 1) controlling disease in shrimp at all stages of development; 2) investigating normal cells and tissues so that development, growth, metamorphosis and disease can be better assessed; 3) inducing individual shrimp to mature rapidly in a relatively inexpensive system; and 4) initiating studies that utilize stocks of additional crustaceans either concurrent with or subsequent to grow out of Penaeus vannamei or other penaeid shrimps.

GARDEN TOUR—The informal garden of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Hadden, of 515 Hillcrest, Waveland will be open from 12 noon to 5 p.m. April 2 during the Bay St. Louis-Waveland Pilgrimage. Planted with native trees, shrubs and more than 100 clematis and azaleas, the garden also includes blue and white dogwoods. It will be open on the vine covered patio. (Garden Club photo)

Rosalie is beautiful, historic stop in the Natchez pilgrimage

By Joe Pilet

The highways, by-ways, foot paths and lanes will be crowded with tourist enroute to Natchez to celebrate the opening of the famous Natchez Spring Pilgrimage (March 7 - April 11).

There they will visit Rosalie, the historic antebellum home which was purchased by the Mississippi State Society, DAR in 1938 with the State of Mississippi paying $10,000 toward the purchase price.

Why was the lovely mansion named Rosalie? Back in 1716 Bienville established the first fort on the Mississippi River and called it Fort Rosalie in honor of the beautiful Duchess de Pontchartrain. And here begins an interesting chapter in history: The United States flag was raised for the first time over Mississippi soil on March 30, 1798 - raised on Fort Rosalie Hill, just back of the mansion.

The house, "Rosalie," was built by Peter Little in 1820-23 and the grandfather clock at the foot of the stairs has been in the house since it was built.

During the Federal occupation of Natchez the mansion was headquarters for General Walter Q. Gresham and his staff. All the beautiful furniture was stored in the attic and the carpets were taken up. The floors made of hard cypress were scarred by spur marks from the officers' boots, but this is of small matter since elegant carpets cover those blemishes.

Well over a hundred years old is the painted white cypress fence that encloses the Rosalie property. It is the celebrated fence without a nail! The pickets were inserted in slots through the railing.

What happened to the original owners of this house? Peter Little, who married Eliza Lowe when she was 13-years-old, died in 1856. Elisa had died three years earlier. There were no children, so the house was sold and the estate divided. Andrew Wilson bought the house and the Wilson's furnishings are still there including a complete set of Belter rosewood.

The Mississippi Daughters lavish love and affection - and money on Rosalie. Currently plans are formulated for the restoration of the gardens and the laying of new carpeting.

Hostesses from the many Mississippi chapters, dressed in breathtakingly beautiful hoop skirted dresses and well versed on the history of Rosalie await visitors and all comers will be greeted with a warm welcome.

UMC helping prepare for increased senior citizen population in state

As Mississippi "grays," the state's future health professionals must learn how they can accommodate the growing numbers of people 65 or older.

Dr. Ames Tryon, director of the Geriatric Education Center at the University of Mississippi Medical Center (UMC), says that citizens 65 or older will account for more than 12 percent of the state's population by the year 2000. Between 1970 and 1980 the elderly population in Mississippi increased by 30 percent - a greater increase than the national average.

The population age shift has created both the need and demand for health professionals who know about the aging process, Tryon said, and the Geriatric Education Center teaches geriatric issues to faculty in all disciplines. "UMC gives its students something of a head start," he said.

The School of Denistry had a required aging course in its curriculum when the first students enrolled in 1975. It was the first dental school in the country to offer such a course. "Other schools taught geriatric denistry, but ours is a multidisciplinary course which covers all aspects of aging," Tryon said.

Every January, students provide care-under faculty supervision-to residents of two area nursing homes to gain clinical experience. They clean and label dentures and do routine checks for infections and growths. Students have, in fact, found malignant growths and referred the residents for medical treatment.

The students also accompany home health nurses on their visits. They act as dental consultants, telling the nurse what the patient needs in terms of dental care.

"Our students will be prepared to give care to the elderly whether they live at home or in an institution," Tryon said.

Students in the School of Medicine will be the best subjects for medical students all around the country who will be taught geriatrics. They are participants in a study which seeks to determine the best way of teaching geriatric subject matter to medical students.

The National Fund for Medical Education funded the proposal of psychology division chief Dr. Jeffrey Kelly who also conducts the study. "Virtually all recent studies indicate that medical students are relatively unknowledgeable about aging, hold stereotyped and often negative attitudes toward elderly patients, and have difficulty interacting comfortably with the elderly," Kelly said.

Students certainly need a body of knowledge about the aging process," he said, "and they also need to learn social skills so they can deal with the elderly efficiently and sensitively. But we need some assurance that what we're teaching them has a payoff in increased knowledge, changed attitudes and deeper sensitivity."

In this, the first year of the project, half of the third-year medical students will attend 10 seminar sessions which teach both information and interpersonal skills. When the students finish the series, they'll be tested for their understanding of the subject matter and how much skill they show in a videotaped interview with an elderly patient. Their scores will be compared to the other half of the class which did not have the seminar sessions.

Next year, Kelly will write a guide for other medical schools to help them implement similar programs.

Economics professor comments on public recreation prices

By Dr. Jack Wimberly

Museums, zoos, libraries, and public parks have a couple of common characteristics.

First, they are usually operated by a government agency for either an educational or recreational purpose.

Second, they are generally available to the public free of charge.

To many people, the educational or recreational values of these facilities are reasons enough to justify expenditure of tax money on them. From an economic standpoint, there is an even stronger justification for charging either nothing or very low fees for use of these facilities. It is this: an additional customer can be served without added cost. After all, what is the added cost if an additional person walks through a museum or another child visits the zoo? It is either zero or so insignificant that it can't be measured.

The Pat Harrison Waterway District operates eight campgrounds in various locations in southeast Mississippi. These park facilities were constructed with funds from several federal agencies and tax money from 15 counties in the southeastern portion of the state. A camper will pay $11 per night to stay in one of these campgrounds. The local KOA-without benefit of taxpayer support-charges $9.50, plus another $2.50 if your camper has an electric air conditioner.

Campers aren't freeloaders, and if the waterway district incurs an additional cost of $2.50 per night, they would gladly pay.

The idea that a public facility should be paid for with tax money and then paid for again when it is used, however, is not appealing. We don't build highways with gasoline taxes and then make toll roads of them.

If the purpose of the waterway district is to make money, its pricing policy makes sense. If the purpose is to serve the people in the district, it doesn't.

(Wimberly is a professor of economics in the College of Business Administration at the University of Southern Mississippi.)

ETV Brief

KINGSLEY STARS

Ben Kingsley stars in the "Masterpiece Theatre" presentation of "Silas Marner" at 9 p.m., Sunday, March 15, on Mississippi ETV.

George Eliot's classic story is about a reclusive 19th century linen weaver in a remote English village whose faith is restored by a small child.

"Silas Marner" is considered Eliot's masterpiece, and the author is regarded, along with Charles Dickens, as the best Victorian novelist. Literary critics have described "Silas Marner" as an allegory about the way natural human influences (love and kindness) can heal a damaged personality.

Kinta Maloney requested members to loan any of their original art work to her elementary school class for their studies in art appreciation. There were three volunteers.

The Monday, April 6 meeting will be at 1 p.m. in the Community Center. Artist Gerald Bienvenu of Waveland will be our guest speaker following the usual meeting. He will demonstrate a watercolor workshop that members may participate in. Mr. Bienvenu has won first place in Louisiana Watercolor in 1986 plus first place in multi-media in the Sidel Art League.

We are very proud to have this opportunity and ask that members bring their watercolor work materials to the April 6 meeting.

At the May 4 meeting Jeanine Longanecher will demonstrate "How to Make Your Own Paper From Natural Sources." We missed all members who were enjoying Mardi Gras off the reservation, and we hope to see you in April.

The Lithotripter: The Alternative to Kidney Stone Surgery

Kidney stones are a painful and commonplace human ailment. And, until very recently, major surgery was the usual treatment.

Now there is the lithotripter, an advanced machine that focuses low-intensity shock waves on the brittle stones and crumbles them into pieces small enough to be flushed from the body in urination.

Lithotripsy involves little or no discomfort, requires no incision at all, and reduces hospitalization for kidney stone removal to a matter of a day or so, rather than weeks.

In fact, many lithotripsies are performed on an outpatient basis.

When it is carried out by a skilled and experienced medical team, lithotripsy has a success rate of approximately 97 percent.

The Gulf South's most experienced and respected lithotripsy center is Louisiana Lithotripter, Inc., at Tulane University Hospital — created by a group of 37 kidney specialists in Mississippi and Louisiana. LLI has performed well over 650 lithotripsies in the past year, and Tulane is one of only 16 medical centers in the country accredited by the American Urological Association to train physicians in the use of lithotripsy.

If you would like further information, consult your physician, or call us.

'Speaking Oracles of God'

—1 Peter 4:11

By W. Edwin Kearley, Minister

RIGHTEOUS NOAH

Peter wrote, "For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved unto judgement; and spared not the old world, but saved Noah, the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood upon the world of the ungodly." (II Peter 2:4-5)

What was the state of the world in Noah's day? In Genesis we are told, "And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually." (Genesis 6:5)

There was not let up in the involvement in evil. Does not this describe many in our society today? Taking God's name in vain, lying, stealing, murder, fornication, adultery, drunkenness, idolatry, enmity, strife, etc. are too prevalent today.

What was God's attitude toward the world's condition of Noah's day? "And it repented the Lord that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at his heart. And the Lord said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth; both man, and beast and the creeping things and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them" (Genesis 6:6-7)

John T. Willis comments on the statement "God repented." The translation: "It repented the Lord" (Jehovah, KJV, ASV; cf. also vs. 7) has given rise to no little discussion. Certainly the Biblical writers nowhere suggest that God must repent of sin, and they firmly declare that when God says something, he does not lie or go back on this word (cf. Numbers 23:19; I Samuel 15:29; Malachi 3:6)

Thus, the Hebrew verb nichum here must mean that God was sorry (RSV, NEB) that he had made man. (cf. This same basic meaning of "repent" in Exodus 32:14; I Samuel 15:11; Jeremiah 18:7-8; 26:3, 13; Joel 2:13; Jonah 3:10; 4:2) which finds support in the companion word grieved in the parallel line. God is not impersonal. He is deeply involved in human affairs and in men's lives, and he is deeply moved by man's actions. When man sins, God is sorry - he is grieved." (Living Word Commentary on the Old Testament, Pgs. 167, 168)

"But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord." "These are the generations of Noah: Noah was a just man and perfect in his generations, and Noah walked with God." (Genesis 6:8-9) We are told in our text Noah was a preacher or righteousness. He lived in a corrupt world. In spite of that fact he was righteous and tried to lead others to righteousness.

In what way was God's grace granted to Noah? The answer is God gave Noah a way to escape the destructive flood. "And God said unto Noah... Make thee an ark of gopher wood, rooms shalt thou make in the ark, and shalt pitch it within and without with pitch. And this is the fashion which thou shalt make it of: The length of the ark shall be 300 cubits, the breadth of it 50 cubits, and the height of it 30 cubits. A window shalt thou make to the ark, and in a cubit shalt thou finish it above; and a door of the ark shalt thou set in the sides thereof; with lower, second, and third stories shalt thou make it." (Genesis 6:13-16)

Suppose Noah has said gopher wood is a resinous wood. Pine is a resinous wood. Pine is plentiful. I will make the ark out of pine. Would Noah have obeyed God? The answer is no. He would have followed his own desires in the matter rather than God's command. If Noah had so acted, there is no evidence the ark would have floated. We read, "By faith Noah being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by the which he condemned the world and became the heir of righteousness which is by faith." (Hebrews 11:7)

We are told, "Thus Noah did according to all that God commanded him, so did he." (Genesis 6:22) Only eight souls were saved from the flood. They were Noah and his wife, Noah's three sons and their wives. Peter wrote, "By which also he went and preached unto the spirits in prison; when sometime were disobedient, when once the longsuffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was a preparing, wherein few, that is, eight souls were saved by water. The like figure whereunto even baptism doth also now save us (Not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God,) by the resurrection to Jesus Christ." (I Peter 3:19-21)

Through Noah Christ preached to the people before the flood. A lifetime of preaching resulted in the salvation of Noah and his family.

Today Christ preaches through the faithful proclaimer of the gospel of Christ. This includes every faithful Christian. The preaching of the death, burial and resurrection of Christ and the conditions Christ established to allow us to come in contact, spiritually, with his cleansing blood. This enables us to be born of the water and the Spirit. (John 3:3-5; I Peter 1:22-23)

As Noah's ark was pushed up above the water, a burial with our Lord in water baptism cleanses one from past sins. By faith in the Lord's promise, one can have a clear conscience. He can believe his sins are forgiven. Paul stated it in the following words: "Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life." (Romans 6:4)

Do you need to be baptized into Christ? If you are ready, let us help you today!

Crabmeat and Artichoke en Casserole features bounty from Gulf waters

On the Mississippi Gulf Coast, where nature obliges by producing a bountiful harvest of crustaceans, chefs have been challenged to create interesting dishes utilizing the sea's yield. During the long, warm season fishermen bring in boxes of the famous blue crabs that inhabit the local waters.

At Trilby's in Ocean Springs, manager/chef Jane Gottsche has created a recipe using the huge lumps of back-fin crabmeat and choice hearts of artichoke which she calls Crabmeat and Artichoke en Casserole. The unusual seafood and vegetable combination in a rich, spicy sauce is easily prepared in but 15 minutes.

As spring and summer approach and the seafood harvest reaches its peak, this casserole is sure to please dinner guests. And, because it can be prepared earlier and baked just 15 minutes before serving, it is a favorite choice of the host—one that is sure to elicit rave reviews.

Trilby's is a landmark restaurant located at 1203 Bienville Boulevard in Ocean Springs. For more information, contact Jane Gottsche at Trilby's, (800) 874-4115.

State Republican Party delegates scheduled to meet April 11

The Mississippi Republican Party will break from tradition and assemble its state convention delegates to consider a new Party platform on Saturday, April 11 in Jackson.

State Chairman Ebbie Spivey said to her knowledge this is the first time a State Party has assembled its delegates in an off-presidential nomination year. "Not only will the assembly allow us an opportunity to decide on a new platform, it will give us valuable momentum going into the 1987 elections," stated Spivey.

The assembly will be capped by the annual United Republican Fund Dinner featuring Senator Bob Dole (R-Kansas) as the keynote speaker. He will share the stage with Senator Thad Cochran, and be joined by a host of Republican leaders and candidates for statewide and county elections.

More than 400 delegates and alternates from the 1984 State Convention are expected to be in Jackson along with URF members who plan to attend the dinner. The delegate assembly will begin at 1 p.m. at Primos Northgate followed by a reception for Senator Dole at 6 p.m. The dinner will begin at 7 p.m.

The 1984 Convention authorized a 56-member commission to study issues to be included in the new platform. The commission's recommendations will be subject to consideration by the delegate assembly before becoming the Party's official document.

Mississippi receives federal funds for child care project

The Commission for Children and Youth (CCY), Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs, has received $50,000 in federal funding to assist community groups in planning child care programs for "latchkey" children in Mississippi.

The project will be a cooperative effort of CCY, United Way of the Capital Area Inc., the State Department of Education and local officials.

The federal money will enable CCY to assist in the programs will be open to all school-age students regardless of race, ethnic background, economic standing or handicapping conditions.

Programs will be developed by local groups and must meet all state requirements and laws for day care services to school-age children.

The primary target group for technical assistance is public schools, but other groups, such as day care centers, churches and community centers, may apply for the assistance. The project has been endorsed by Dr. Richard Boyd, state superintendent of education.

The federal funding is Mississippi's share of $4.8 million made available to states for dependent care planning and development under the Human Services Reauthorization Act of 1984. States are required to provide a one-third match—$16,667 for Mississippi—bringing the state's total funding for the project to $66,667.

CCY will provide technical assistance to localities in establishing child care programs before and after school hours. CCY Director Nellie Hutchinson noted that there are an estimated 200,000 "latchkey" children, those who come home to an empty house or apartment because their parents work between the ages of 6 and 13 in Mississippi.

A second phase of the project is a grant of $22,500 CCY awarded to the United Way to upgrade that agency's computer system. The improvement will allow United Way to computerize all information on child-care facilities and services in Mississippi and publish a resource directory.

Localities interested in receiving technical assistance may contact the Commission for Children and Youth at 301 W. Pearl St., Jackson 39203-3090. The telephone number is 948-3000.

GARDENING SOUTHERN STYLE
Southern gardens—as special as the tomatoes, roses and weeds that grow in them—need the kind of attention that's tailored to the South's own growing conditions.

"Gardening Southern Style," a new 13-part series, provides this guidance for southerners as they care for their gardens through the planting and harvesting season of mid-March to mid-June.

"Gardening Southern Style" with Felder Rushing, a production of Mississippi Educational Television, will be broadcast at 8:30 p.m., Wednesdays, beginning March 11, on the statewide network. Each program will be rebroadcast at 3 p.m., Saturdays.

Rushing hosts the series at the site of a raised-bed garden in his own backyard in Jackson. The raised-bed project will be covered from construction to planting to tending to harvesting. Also, this living, growing project during the series provides a source of illustration and example for Rushing as he demonstrates the various aspects of Southern gardening covered during the 13-week series: "Pruning and Propagating;" "Spring Flowering Shrubs and Trees;" "Soil and Fertility;" "Spring Planting;" "Gardening in the Raised Bed;" "Perennials;" "Lawns;" "Shade Gardening;" "Insects, Disease and Pests;" "Versatile Shrubs;" "Watering;" "Weed Control;" and "Fruits in the Landscape."

Felder Rushing also is the author of the book "Gardening Southern Style," published by University Press at Mississippi. For more information about the book, interested persons should write Gardening Southern Style, Mississippi ETV, P.O. Box 1101, Jackson, MS 39213-1101.

Hancock County, Mississippi
Management Report
October 30, 1986

Recommendation

We recommend that cash receipts be received in the order in which they are received and be deposited intact on a daily basis.

Staff's Response

As we have inadequate personnel to handle daily deposits we must make weekly deposits and a cash journal is now being kept. I also feel that it is not the State Auditor's office's job to mandate job descriptions.

Justice Court Clerk

1. Finding

Cash receipts are not being deposited daily.

Recommendation

We recommend that all cash receipts be deposited intact on a daily basis.

Justice Court Clerk's Response

Since our audit, deposits have been made daily. Deposits are only prepared and made by the clerk. The only day of the week that a deposit is not made is Monday, our court day. The reason being court begins at 2:00 p.m. and is not over in time for the deposit to be made that day. Monday's deposit is made on Tuesday.

The litigation concerning exceptions taken against Henry L. Otis, former Hancock County Circuit Clerk, has been completed. As a result, a total of $34,350 was received from bonding companies for Henry L. Otis. The payments were deposited into the State Department of Audit Exception Clearing Account and rebursed to Hancock County.

The findings in this management report came to our attention as a result of audit procedures and tests. These procedures and tests cannot and do not provide absolute assurance that all legal requirements have been complied with. In accordance with Section 7-7-211, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), the State Auditor's office, when deemed necessary, may conduct additional procedures and tests of transactions and records for this or other fiscal years to insure compliance with legal requirements.

Hancock County, Mississippi

We have examined the combined financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, as of and for the year ended September 30, 1985, as presented in the accompanying General Fund Balance Sheet - All Fund Types and Account Groups, and we have also examined the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we deemed necessary in the circumstances.

The records do not maintain an adequate inventory or adequate subsidiary records documenting the valuation of roads, buildings and other fixed assets, as presented in the General Fixed Assets Account Group of the accompanying Combined Balance Sheet - All Fund Types and Account Groups.

In our opinion, except for the effect of such adjustments, if any, as might have been determined to be necessary had we been able to substantiate the valuation of roads, buildings and other fixed assets as discussed in the preceding paragraph, the combined financial statements, as presented above, present fairly the financial position of Hancock County, Mississippi, at September 30, 1985, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

The examination was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the combined financial statements taken as a whole. The supplemental schedule referred to in the table of contents is presented for the purpose of additional analysis and is not necessary for a fair presentation of the combined financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi. This supplemental schedule has been prepared in accordance with the auditing procedures applied in the examination of the combined financial statements mentioned above and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the combined financial statements taken as a whole.

RAY MABIUS
State Auditor

Members of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County, Mississippi

The Mississippi State Auditor's Office has completed the audit of Hancock County, Mississippi, for the year ended September 30, 1985. Hancock County, Mississippi, is a member of the Mississippi State Auditor's Office staff members participating in this engagement included: R. H. Stuart, Jr., Rodney D. Ziegler, CPA, Gary E. Beach, CPA, James L. Webb, Gary Carson, CPA, James B. Morris, Lynne Wade and Christy Corbett.

During the course of our engagement certain matters came to our attention which require the attention of management. These matters involve deviations from generally accepted accounting principles and procedures, legal compliance violations and weaknesses in internal accounting controls. Our findings and recommendations and your responses are as follows:

Board of Supervisors

1. Finding

The auditor's opinion is qualified as to fair presentation of the combined financial statements because the county does not maintain an adequate inventory or adequate subsidiary records documenting the valuation of general fixed assets.

Recommendation

We recommend the county maintain an adequate inventory of general fixed assets and maintain adequate subsidiary records documenting the valuation of general fixed assets.

Board of Supervisors' Response

Hancock County is currently taking appropriate measures to determine the valuation of buildings and fixed assets.

2. Finding

Section 19-11-11, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires that the board of supervisors prepare a budget for all funds.

Recommendation

We recommend the preparation and formal adoption of a county budget of all funds in accordance with the aforementioned section.

Board of Supervisors' Response

Hancock County has taken appropriate measures to be in compliance with Section 19-11-11, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), budgeting all funds for fiscal year 1986-87.

Now is a good time for transplanting or establishing trees in the Southern landscape.

Whether nursery-grown or native-grown, a transplanted tree's survival and health usually depend on proper planting and a watering program that ensures adequate moisture for at least the first year after transplanting.

Winter months soon after trees have gone into dormancy, are the best time for establishing trees on a new site, but other times of the year are suitable under certain conditions. It is best if the tree is dormant, because it allows the tree to use all its energy to establish its root system in the new soil before the growing season begins again.

In addition to the right planting season and adequate water, factors to keep in mind are sufficient size of planting hole, correct placement of the tree in the hole, avoiding use of fertilizer at the time of transplanting (and no dry fertilizer added to the soil for the first year), and providing temporary support for the tree trunk in some cases.

The planting hole should be twice as wide as the root ball and as deep as necessary to set the tree at the same depth it grew in the nursery or in the wild.

Any plastic wrapping around a balled tree should be removed. It is important to check trees growing in a pot, to be sure the roots are spread out from the tree and not growing in a circle.

Roots must not be allowed to dry out at any time, or the tree may die, and should be protected from wind and sun. Then the hole can be filled with the same soil that came from the hole.

To the surprise of many people, it is not recommended to add any amendments to the soil for a transplanted tree. In order for the tree to thrive on its permanent site, it has to adapt to the yard soil, and the sooner the better.

If we make the planting hole too cozy, the roots won't want to leave it as they must for the tree to grow to maturity.

Once the tree is placed in the planting hole, the roots are covered to the depth they were covered originally; the soil tamped down firmly, but not so hard that the roots are broken.

A mulch of compost, pine straw, leaves or bark should be placed on the surface around the tree. Mulch will conserve moisture, prevent competing vegetation from growing around the tree, help prevent damage to the trunk from lawn mowers or string-type weeding devices, and will ultimately break down into nutrients for the tree.

The newly planted trees should be watered thoroughly when all the soil is in place. More soil may be needed to fill the hole after the water settles the soil. During the growing season and well into fall, the tree should be watered thoroughly once a week unless there is sufficient rainfall.

Although dry fertilizer should not be added to the soil at the time of planting or to the soil surface for the first year afterward, the type of fertilizer used for potted house plants can be applied to newly established trees to great advantage during the first year.

Read the label carefully and follow directions for mixing the solution with water. Pour the solution over the foliage of the tree and allow it to fall to the ground around the tree. You'll be surprised and happy with the results.

Trees taller than three feet may need support until roots are firmly established. Rubber-wrapped guy wires can be connected from the tree to supporting poles and left in place the first year, but then must be removed to avoid "girdling" the tree.

Sunscald, caused by direct sunlight on tender bark, and wounds to the trunk can be prevented by wrapping the trunk with burlap or creped craft paper. Chicken wire supported by stakes around the tree will help to prevent animal damage.

EVERYDAY MINIMUM PRICING

SAYS "NO" TO HIGHER FOOD BILLS.

NO SPECIALS, NO DOUBLE COUPONS, NO GIMMICKS.

Just absolutely lower pricing on every item, every day—to give you the minimum total food bill. Every week. To make this possible, Delchamps is taking an important step: We've eliminated weekly specials. This has been a very expensive way to attract more customers. And to make up for it, supermarkets have had to keep all their other prices high.

Instead, the New Delchamps is doing business in a whole new way. With Everyday Minimum Pricing. No games or gimmicks. Just the minimum possible prices to give you the minimum total food bill. It's a bold way to run a supermarket. And we're making it work. For all of us.

EVERYDAY MINIMUM PRICING ABSOLUTELY LOWER PRICING!
